

Asbestos Awareness Training Courses

The Approved Code of Practice (ACoP), Management of Exposure to Asbestos in Workplace Buildings and Structures, which aims to control the risks from exposure to asbestos at work, has been revised and comes into force on the 1 October 2009. This revision of the code not only reflects improvements over the controls for working with asbestos but also highlights the need for all workers, who could be exposed to asbestos in the course of their work, to be provided with asbestos awareness training.

Every Week 6 Electricians Die from the Hidden Killer

Every Week 3 Plumbers Die From the Hidden Killer

Every Week 6 Joiners Die From the Hidden Killer

by undertaking Asbestos Awareness Training you are not only complying with the Approved Code of Practice, you are providing yourself and your Employees with the Information, Instruction and training to recognize asbestos, understand the health hazards of exposing yourself and others to asbestos, understanding the Legislation and the different uses and types of asbestos containing materials.
